

Market Update & Outlook

Market Watch: Nymex decreases this week. The price of the October 2014 natural gas futures contract settled at $4.003/MMBtu last Wednesday and then traded down to $3.847/MMBtu. Dominion and Duke Energy, along with two other partners, are seeking federal approval for a 550-mile pipeline - called the Atlantic Coast Pipeline - that would stretch from Harrison County, W.Va., through Virginia and North Carolina to Robeson County, near the South Carolina border. "This will be one of the largest pipelines to take advantage of the abundant supply of natural gas in the Marcellus and Utica shale fields in West Virginia, Ohio and Pennsylvania," says Dominion spokesman Jim Norvelle.
